U.S. Wheat Farmers Decide Today On Federal Controls

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wheat growers, plagued by a vast and persistent surplus, will decide in a referendum Saturday whether to continue federal controls that keep their plantings about 30 per cent below war and postwar levels.

The referendum is regarded by farm leaders as the most important ever held by the Agriculture Department in more than 20 years of crop control operations.

The outcome is in doubt because of sharp opposition raised to the restrictions in some areas and because of general farmer dissatisfaction with present agricultural prices.

Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting will be required to continue controls.

Rejection of the controls, some farm leaders say, might well weaken the whole farm price support structure unless Congress acted promptly to set up an alternative program.

Specifically, farmers will vote on whether to limit sales from the 1956 crop to the wheat produced on 55 million acres allotted individual growers.

Approval of quotas would bring the third straight year of crop restrictions. For 1954, the quota was 62½ million acres with government price supports at $2.22 a bushel. This year, the quota dropped to 55 million acres—the same as proposed for 1956—with support prices at $2.06 a bushel.

If quotas are continued now, the support price will drop to $1.81 a bushel in 1956 under the Eisenhower administration's flexible support program. But if farmers reject the quotas, support prices drop all the way to $1.19 a bushel.

That would be only 50 per cent of parity. And parity is the price figured as fair to the farmer in relation to prices a farmer must pay. Even this support would be available only to farmers who complied with acreage allotments anyhow.

The proposed allotment is 25 million acres short of the postwar peak acreage.

Most major farm organizations—as well as the Agriculture Department—maintained a "hands off" attitude on the voting. The National Farmers Union, backer of high level price supports and critic of the Eisenhower administration's flexible support program, has put on a farm-to-farm campaign in behalf of the quotas.

Big postwar crops coupled with a shrinkage in export markets have created a record surplus supply of about 965 million bushels of wheat. This supply, in itself, is more than enough to meet market demands for a full year. Most of this extra wheat has been turned over to the department under price support operations and involves a federal investment of nearly 2½ billion dollars.

The proposed control program is designed to prevent the accumulation of additional supplies.

Department officials estimated that nearly one million farmers in 36 states are eligible to vote. Excluded are 12 states where production is small and whose growers are exempted from the quotas, as well as farmers who will have 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest next year. The excluded states are in the East and South.

Voting will be by secret ballot and will be conducted under supervision of the department's Commodity Stabilization Service and its system of state and local farmer committees.

This is the fifth wheat quota referendum held since enactment of the control law in 1938. All have approved quotas. The favorable vote for this year's program was the lowest of all, 73.3 per cent with only 285,000 farmers voting.

Similar controls have been imposed this year for cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts and rice.

Eisenhower Issues New Call For Strong U.S.; No Hint Of '56 Plans

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WHITEFIELD, N. H. (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday sounded a new call for a strong America in the quest for enduring world peace — and made no new allusions to his 1956 political plans.

The President made two New Hampshire speeches Friday morning — one at Lincoln and the other at Franconia Notch — but in neither did he follow up in any way his "teaser" suggestion of Thursday that he might seek a second term.

An aide who asked not to be named reported that Eisenhower laughed uproariously in reading newspaper accounts of the commotion he caused as a result of the "teaser" remarks in an informal talk at Concord, N. H. But he did nothing publicly to clarify the situation.

Eisenhower arrived at this northern New Hampshire community Friday afternoon after motor-ing from Lacombe, where he spent the night.

An hour after arrival here he was playing golf on a beautiful course rimmed by the Presidential Range of the White Mountains.

The President took part at Franconia Notch in ceremonies marking the 150th anniversary of the discovery of "The Old Man of the Mountains"—a great stone face etched by nature on a mountain peak.

'Bombs' Serenade Molotov; Cop Nabs Three Teen-Agers

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Three teen-agers exploded several Fourth of July "cherry bombs" Thursday night in front of the mansion occupied by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and other Russian delegates to the U.N. meeting in San Francisco.

A Hillsborough policeman outside the grounds chased and captured the youths, all from nearby San Mateo.

The explosions brought a dozen Russian guards hurrying to the road.

A "cherry bomb" is a round noise-maker encased in a moulded plastic body. It explodes with a big flash.

Police Chief Walter Wisnom said the youths were booked on a technical charge of violating the curfew. Then they were released to their parents who were told to take the boys back to see Wisnom later.

New Safety Rules Slow Release Of Polio Drug

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revised safety standards evidently are bringing delays in release of Salk polio vaccine which were not anticipated a month ago. This has further clouded the picture as to when vaccine may become available for general use among children.

A survey of all six manufacturers Friday indicated large amounts may not be available until mid-July, and it may be August or later before the flow of vaccine hits full scale.

A spokesman for the National Institutes of Health said apparently it will be at least another week or 10 days before any further vaccine is released at all.

Four weeks ago, in announcing the new safety standards on May 27, Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele of the Public Health Service told reporters he was "very optimistic" vaccine would be flowing from the manufacturers "very shortly."

However, the only release of new vaccine since that date was on June 6, for about one million shots made by Eli Lilly Co., Indianapolis. On June 1 some 200,000 shots unused from lots previously cleared, were released. This vaccine was made by Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa., and Pitman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind.

There have been no other releases since May 27.

Thursday Scheele reaffirmed the official position of the Public Health Service that the vaccine "is effective and is safe" and again endorsed its manufacture and use.

All current production is going to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for free shots for second and first-grade school children. In New York, a foundation spokesman said roughly six million more cubic centimeters (each cc. makes one shot) would be needed to complete inoculations for the first and second graders who want them.

Observance Of U.N. Charter Would Halt Cold War: Dulles

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Friday rejected in strong words a 7-point peace program put before the U. N. by Russia's V. M. Molotov.

Shortly after his eagerly-awaited speech to the U. N. 10th anniversary conference, Dulles saw Molotov-Dulles talk took place in a private room of the Opera House, where the U. N. meetings are in progress.

In his address, Dulles said the cold war can be ended by nations observing the U. N. charter, refraining from force and halting subversion against other countries.

Dulles' policy declaration to the U. N. 10th anniversary celebration was the American answer to the challenge of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who had said the next step is up to the United States and the West.

The secretary's 28-minute speech had been endorsed in advance by President Eisenhower. The President opened this conference last Monday with a renewed pledge to follow the spirit of the charter. Heavy applause burst out as Dulles ended. Even Molotov and his delegation politely clapped their hands.

Summing up the American reaction to Molotov's program, Dulles said:

"There is one extremely simple method of bringing an end to what is called the 'cold war'—observe the charter of the United Nations; refrain from the use of force or the threat of force in international relations and from the support and direction of subversion against the institutions of other countries."

Molotov's seven points included agreements to withdraw troops from Germany, stop "war propaganda," settle the Far Eastern problems and dismantle military bases on foreign territories.

Dulles said seven points are not needed; it is enough to adhere to the charter.

state income tax. Under classification, the Legislature could enact laws setting different tax rates for different property.

The present tax article requires that real estate and all other property be taxed uniformly, with the result that intangibles such as securities and bank deposits often escape taxation.

Before adopting the resolution, the House defeated four proposed changes including one by Rep. Franklin U. Stransky (R-Savanna) to specify classes of intangible personal property subject to tax and to limit the amount of revenue from that source.

Stransky said the amendment was a carbon copy of the one rejected by voters in 1952 and that without his revision it would be defeated again.

The House shelved changes asked by Reps. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign), Alan Dixon (D-Belleville) and G. William Horsley (R-Springfield).

Clabaugh proposed to give some relief to dual school districts which by consolidating lost some binding power for building purposes. Dixon wanted to remove the ban on an income tax and Horsley suggested that some tax exemption be permitted on homesteads.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey promised to try to get the government back under the old statutory limit of 275 billion by June 30, 1956, but meanwhile, he told the legislators, he needs some financial "elbow room."

This can be provided by a 12-month extension of the higher debt ceiling of 281 billion, he said. The ceiling was raised from 275 temporarily last year but will fall back to that figure at the end of the month unless Congress grants an extension.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee reported they approved the administration's request at a brief closed session held after Humphrey had presented his case. They said there were no dissents.

7 Injured As P2V-5 Falls, Burns After Unprovoked Attack

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Friday that a slow moving, lightly armed Navy patrol plane was attacked Wednesday by two Russian Mig Jet fighters over international waters between Alaska and Siberia.

One engine set afire by the attack, the plane crash-landed and burned on remote St. Lawrence Island, American territory, in the Bering Sea. Seven of the 11 crew members were injured. The other four were unhurt.

The incident, the 13th attack on American planes outside war zones since 1950, threw a shadow over forthcoming Big Four peace talks and stirred an angry protest in Congress.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty first announced the "inexplicable and unwarranted" attack while touring with President Eisenhower in Whitefield, N.H.

Defense officials in Washington then filled in details, saying the American plane was armed only with one .50 caliber machine gun and did not return the single round of fire from the Migs. Military spokesmen said the plane was on a patrol out of Kodiak, Alaska, a flight that has been routine for the past year, and "reports indicate that there is no explanation for this unprovoked attack."

At Eisenhower's direction, Secretary of State Dulles promptly took up the issue with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at San Francisco, where they are attending the 10th anniversary ceremonies of the United Nations.

Hagerty reported Molotov said he was unaware of the incident but would investigate at once and communicate with Dulles again.

St. Lawrence Island, where the twin-engine plane crash landed, is less than 100 miles from Siberia and 200 miles southwest of Nome, Alaska. The wounded crewmen were flown to Elmendorf (Alaska) Air Force Base Hospital.

In Congress, the incident touched off bitter reaction and brought expressions of concern about its effects on the Big Four summit conference in Geneva next month.

"This is an incredible way to start a peace conference," said Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.).

"This act unmasks the insincerity of the Russian peace offensive," said Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), a member of the Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) said the Russian attack was a matter of great concern especially because American patrol planes in that area are charged with protecting against a surprise attack on American continental installations.

"This is mighty close to home," Holland added. "This is a far more serious incident than the attacks on American planes in the area north of Japan and in other areas."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) called it "a cowardly attack by trigger happy Russians."

The Navy said the plane, a P2V-5, had a speed of 312 miles per hour, scarcely half that of a jet fighter. Two of the crew members were said to have received fractures and five were burned. Four escaped injury.

The Navy had reported the crash Thursday without mentioning the Russian attack.

Hagerty, in announcing the attack, used the phrase "crash landing." Asked if that meant the plane was shot down, he replied, "I did not say that."

His terse announcement did not mention words about the origin of the attack. He said the Navy Neptune patrol plane, while on a routine flight over international waters in the Bering Strait area, "was fired upon by Soviet planes."

He added that the commander of the Navy plane (Lt. R. H. Fischer, 30, Del Rey Oaks, Calif.), "was forced to make a crash landing on St. Lawrence Island in American territory."

"The attack on our plane was inexplicable and unwarranted," Hagerty said.

Hagerty said word of the shooting first reached President Eisenhower Thursday when he was at Chittenden Vt. Eisenhower conferred by telephone Friday with Herbert Hoover Jr., undersecretary of state, who was in Washington. In the room with Hoover were Secretary of Defense Wilson, Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Anderson.

Hagerty conferred by telephone with Dulles in San Francisco. He said Dulles discussed the incident with Molotov after Dulles' speech to the United Nations.

The Navy said another plane sighted the four uninjured crew members near the scene of the wreckage Wednesday night. The attack took place about 10 o'clock in the morning.

In the far north's virtual round-the-clock daylight, the crew members were rescued and flown to the hospital.

Charles Shields, father of Airman Charles W. Shields, 21, of Clawson, Mich., one of the crew members, said he talked with the Elmendorf Hospital and learned that his son had burned hands.

Pro-government newspapers ended their long stream of attacks on the Catholic clergy after last week's abortive revolt against Peron's regime. All priests arrested since last November, when Peron publicly accused some clergymen of trying to subvert his government, now have been released.

The police have stationed guards at churches to prevent such incidents as the burning and sacking of eight religious edifices during the revolt.

House Body Votes To Keep High Debt Ceiling For Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted Friday to keep the national debt limit up at 281 billion dollars for another year at the request of the Eisenhower administration.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey promised to try to get the government back under the old statutory limit of 275 billion by June 30, 1956, but meanwhile, he told the legislators, he needs some financial "elbow room."

Western Big 3 Confer With Red Yugoslavia

By BORIS BOSKOVIC

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Diplomats of the Western Big Three conferred Friday with Yugoslavia on questions that may determine future Western policy toward this independent Communist country.

The Yugoslav government is believed to be seeking to bolster its relations with the West after the recent visit of Moscow's top men to Belgrade. The Soviet-Yugoslav talks were designed to reconcile relations between the two countries.

Friday's meeting, held on an ambassadorial level, was arranged following the visit of the Soviet leaders. It brought together representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Yugoslavia for their first formal conference since the end of the war.

No announcement was made at the end of Friday's talks, but it was assumed that general political questions were discussed. No military or economic advisers were present. The talks are expected to end Saturday.

The agenda for the conference called for consideration of the general international situation and questions relating to mutual relations. It made no mention of Soviet-Yugoslav relations.

Participating were Srđjan Price, acting Yugoslav foreign minister, and Ambassadors James W. Riddleberger of the United States, Sir Frank Roberts of Britain and Francois Coustot of France.

PIERCING JET AGE BARRIER

It seems incredible, but news from the plane makers and airlines in recent days makes it clear that by 1960 we shall be entering the jet age in commercial air transport. We shall then be looking ahead to atomic-powered planes and rocket aircraft.

Most of the forecasters have been saying that U. S. airlines would not be flying jet planes until the mid-1960's. Now we learn that Douglas Aircraft Company expects to be able to deliver a jet-powered plane, the DC-8, by 1959.

Of course, airlines using big, fast and relatively new piston-engined planes, like the DC-7 and the advanced Lockheed Constellation, may be reluctant to switch over while so much life is left in such craft. But obviously the attractions of jet power will be enormously compelling.

The planners are talking of 4½-hour flights from New York to Los Angeles, 4 hours to Hawaii from the West Coast, and New York to Paris in 6½ hours.

Moreover, it is an established fact that jet planes will afford more passenger comfort, since they are quieter and freer of vibration in flight. And the airlines have long looked forward to the cheaper and easier maintenance involved in jet engines.

As if this were not enough, American Airlines has announced it is buying 65 million dollars worth of so-called turbo-prop planes for use on medium range routes up to 2000 miles. These planes use a mixture of fuel and compressed air, as do jets, but they operate with a propeller as well as a turbine. The line will begin flying them in late 1958.

There is still more. For some time, the Boeing Airplane Company has been testing a jet called the 707, designed originally as an air force tanker but adaptable to commercial use. Boeing has not yet cleared away all the barriers to this development, but under the spur of competition from Douglas and Lockheed, also busy with jet experiments, it may be long.

For a time it seemed that the British, with their sleek Comet jets, were really going to steal a march on American plane producers in the jet field. But unfortunate mishaps to several Comet I's took the plane out of the air and slowed up British progress in the long-haul field. However, John Bull is a jet jump ahead on the short hauls. The Vickers Viscount, a turbo-prop job, is in regular operation for Trans-Canada airlines. In addition Capital is scrapping their entire fleet of 60 piston-engined planes and replacing them with Viscounts.

America's producers, long the leaders in commercial aviation with their smartly designed piston-engined craft in use the world over, awoke to the challenge and spurred development.

Both the makers and the airlines are to be congratulated for forward-looking attitudes which have not only brought America once more to the fore in civil aviation, but have put us on the threshold of the atomic-rocket age.

REconciliation 1-1000—A Number to Dial Without Fear

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The telephone number would be REconciliation 1-1000. To get it, in any city in America, you'd dial RE 1-1000. It would be the number of your local Health Department's Family Emergency Service. A child could dial it without fear. A parent could dial it without fear. Both, if the other called it, would know he was saying, "Bring us together again, please."

We'd all know the number because posters in schools, subways and buses would make us familiar with it. Though you might never dial it, knowing that you could would be security. Because the number existed, you'd talk less excitedly to Bill about his new habit of saying, "Out!" when you ask where he's going.

For in crisis, you'd know the rest of us would be behind you. New rock would rise under your feet, just knowing that the quiet steady person from RE 1-1000 would be there, if need arose.

If it would be this to you who don't need him, what would it be to the people who do?—the parents whose words are nothing because they're spoken in broken English; the working parents without time for PTA; the night-shift parents struggling for quiet from yelling children; the women without men to say, "Don't talk like that to your mother;"—all of us who are here by invitation from the lady in New York harbor who stretched out her arms to the world and said, "Give me your tired, your poor. Send these, the homeless, the tempest-tossed to me."

Just for a minute, think what it would mean to these among us to know that the steady, quiet stranger would come, walk in, sit down and say to us and our fresh kid: "Tell me about it."

Before the cities, there were places for children to run to when they wanted to cry. There were the tranquillizing fields and earth. Now, there are the stone streets and the city's clangor. Now when they want to cry, there are only the tenement stairs—or other kids wandering the stone streets, looking for places to cry.

I understand that there's a law of physics that says the tighter you compress material, the greater its explosive potential. We built these cities. We packed the human material into them, tight. We undertook to cook this Melting Pot. All right, let's provide the valve for its steaming. Let's arrange for release of the explosive we're generating—and stop kidding around with baseball and playgrounds.

Emotions, not muscles, what are bursting with explosive energy. What's needed are people talking about them together. In our cities of stone, we demand a new public resource for intelligent friendliness.

Before a child can obey his father, he must experience tenderness from his mother.

Before the adult children who produce delinquency can trust our laws, they must receive compassion from you and me.

Let's give it to them through REconciliation 1-1000.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), an increasingly obscure American politician, this week tried to climb out of the political basement where he landed after the Senate condemned some of his actions last Dec. 2.

The reaction he got was worse than in December. The vote for condemnation was 67-22. Wednesday the Senate voted against a resolution he offered 77-4.

In climbing back into public view this week, McCarthy repeated what started him toward the basement in the first place: he tried to match strength with President Eisenhower.

In the Eisenhower administration's first two years, while he was still riding high, McCarthy tried to tell it how to handle some of its foreign policy, lambasted some of its officials and attacked unsparingly some of its operations.

But when he lit into the Army, the administration took a stand. In the Army-McCarthy hearings which followed, the Army couldn't claim victory but neither could McCarthy.

For the first time millions of Americans got a good look at McCarthy and his tactics. He may have won new followers but he bored a lot of people and alienated others.

Almost immediately afterwards he was in the political fight of his life: an attempt to ward off censure of his conduct by the Senate. Instead of censure, the Senate condemned some of his conduct.

This week he asked the Senate to adopt a resolution which many senators said would have tied Eisenhower's hands at the Big Four meeting in July or perhaps prevented a meeting.

McCarthy's resolution would have the Senate tell the administration to demand of Russia an agreement—before the big meeting—that it would discuss the "status" of Communist control in countries in Asia and Europe.

If the Senate went along with him, McCarthy could claim he had dictated to Eisenhower and the Russians what they should talk about.

But when he saw he would be clobbered, he not only tried to avoid a vote by charged that those who insisted on the showdown were aiding the Communists. This time only three other Republicans voted with McCarthy in the 77-4 vote.

One trouble with life is a fellow gets too old to feel at ease while wearing a Davy Crockett hat in public. He no longer can openly act out his daydreams.

So his fantasies go underground in his mind. And they stay there, itching him mentally, for years and years.

In time they gradually grow smaller and smaller in scale. Haven't yours? Can't you remember when maybe you dreamed of running into a burning building and rescuing a beautiful lady? Or of robbing a great liner in mid-ocean and escaping by motor boat. Or of finding $100,000 in the street?

Today none of those daydreams probably flicker through your head. They don't even make sense as daydreams after 40.

In middle age a man no longer pictures himself in his daydreams as a great hero or a great rascal. He realizes he is no longer has the desire (or energy) to be either.

His dreams of glory come down a small daily dramas in which he sees himself mastering some ordinary social situation that has always frustrated him before.

I have two simple daydreams myself. In one I am cashing my paycheck and the bank teller asks, "Do you have any identification through my pockets? I merely fix him with a pair of steel blue eyes and tell him coldly: "My face is my identification in this man's town, sonny." He takes one hurried look — and cashes the check pronto.

In the other I go with a guest into one of the velvet rope restaurants, and when the headwaiter snootily asks if I have a reservation, I tell him:

"Me have a reservation? Look mister, I don't even own an Indian. Now quit stalling, and show us a table."

Overcome by this bit of swift repartee, the humbled headwaiter drops his velvet rope and steers us to the best seats in the place. (In another variation of this daydream I merely take out a boy scout knife, hack the rope in two, and stalk right by the headwaiter as nearby guests look up and ask, "Who is he? Who is he?")

But, of course, this is probably the average man's most common daydream: He wakes up to find his house is finally paid for and doesn't need any repairs, his car is paid for and there isn't even a knock in the motor. He sits down to breakfast and neither his wife nor the kids hit him for money. He reaches in his pocket and is pleasantly dazed to find he still had $10 left — and it's only two days till payday.

Man, that's real dreaming! Who'd rather be Davy Crockett?

DIABETES PATIENT MUST ABANDON ATTITUDE OF STUBBORN RESISTANCE

The "stubborn" patient often presents a problem to family and doctor alike. All that one can do under such circumstances is to tell the truth straight from the shoulder.

Q—My mother has trouble with excessive sugar in her blood and her doctor tells her she has diabetes and must take insulin shots. Being a stubborn person, she told me she would die before she becomes a human pin cushion. Someone told her there is a pill which she said wouldn't mind taking but "no shots." What about this?—W.A.

A—As yet there is no substance which can be taken by mouth which is adequate substitute for insulin by injection. If your mother needs insulin for diabetes every effort should be made to persuade her to take it. By not following such directions, she runs terrible risks of such things as losing her eyesight, gangrene (death of the tissues of the feet), excessive liability to heart disease, and several other frightening consequences of neglected diabetes.

Q—A friend has had her uterus and one ovary removed without an abdominal incision. Is this possible?—Mrs. E. L.

A—It is possible and is done quite frequently. This operation of removal of the uterus (and if necessary some of the surrounding organs) is known as a vaginal hysterectomy.

Q—Can a serious painful illness ever be brought on by a person's sins?—M.R.

A—The notion that cancer is contagious is remarkably persistent. This has been answered innumerable times both in this column and elsewhere. There is no evidence, whatsoever, that cancer is contagious and people who act as you say are displaying an ignorance of the true facts. They need not fear you.

Q—Is it possible for the blood type of a baby to change from Rh negative to Rh positive as it gets older, in a year or so?—Mrs. G.G.

A—For practical purposes, a child born with either Rh negative or Rh positive blood (and with its other "types") and these remain constant throughout life.

Q—I am 50 years old and for several years now my arms have had brown spots coming out on them. I have spent most of my life outdoors. Can this condition of my skin lead to anything more serious?—W.U.

A—By more serious I presume you mean cancer. From the description it sounds as though these spots are not likely to lead to cancer but one cannot be sure without looking at them. To be on the safe side a skin specialist might well be consulted.

U.N.'s Economic Assistance Is Its Most Vital Role

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The greatest practical good to come out of the United Nations—now celebrating its 10th birthday in San Francisco—is expected in its Technical Assistance Administration programs in the more underdeveloped countries.

Trying to provide international political stability through endless talk and conferences is of course idealistic in itself. But in the long run, the great majority of backward people in the world are going to measure the success or failure of the U. N. by what it has done to raise their standard of living.

This problem is now before the U. S. Congress through President Eisenhower's request for $24,000,000 as the American contribution for the next year and a half. The condition which the President tacked onto this request was that it should not be for more than half of the total U. N. budget for TAA work.

At the beginning of this program, five years ago, the U. S. contribution was nearly two-thirds of the funds, to get it going. This has now been dropped to 57 per cent of the total for the current year. But there is general recognition that other countries must give more, in order to reduce the proportion of the U. S. contribution.

There is considerable misunderstanding of the U. N. TAA program. It is generally thought of as a mere duplication of the American government's "Point Four" program introduced by President Truman in 1949.

President Eisenhower's foreign aid request for the coming year seeks $172,000,000 for this work. It is now known as "Technical Cooperation" to give it a name different from that bestowed upon it by the previous administration.

This money is earmarked $41,000,000 for the Middle East, $67,000,000 for Asia, $31,000,000 for Latin America and the remaining $33,000,000 for other countries.

The most frequently asked question about this is why the United States should be expected to lay out an additional $24,000,000 for United Nations effort in the same field.

Hugh L. Keenleyside of Canada, director general of the U. N. Technical Assistance Administration, maintains there is no duplication and no competition.

It was the success of the Truman Point Four program, he says, which convinced the United Nations they should expand their program in this field.

There was reluctance on the part of some countries to accept too much technical assistance from any one country. There was a fear that strings might be attached. Assistance from many countries, administered through the United Nations, would be more acceptable.

From the American point of view, there is an advantage in that anything done by the U. N. leaves that much less to be done by the United States.

In the five years that the U. N. TAA has been functioning, says Keenleyside, 80 nations have voluntarily contributed to its support. Some of them have not been U. N. members — Switzerland, Japan, Italy and Ireland. Some countries that gave aid in the form of technical assistance to their less-developed neighbors also received aid for further advancement.

Soviet Russia has given the equivalent of $1,000,000 the last three years, the Ukraine $125,000 and White Russia $50,000. There are no U. N. TAA projects behind the Iron Curtain, and there are no Communists acting as technical assistants in U. N. missions.

This last development, however, seems inevitable. Having chided the Communist countries for not supporting the U. N. activities in the early years, greater Communist participation is to be expected now that they are in.

Nearly 1600 technical experts have been sent on U. N. missions to over 100 countries that have received aid. These experts have been recruited in 63 countries. The U. N. aid is confined exclusively to this technical assistance. No U. N. projects include capital investments for new industries. The receiving countries must finance their own developments. It is not a "give-away" program, says Keenleyside.

With two-thirds of the people of the world suffering from ignorance, poverty, insufficient food and disease, there is room for expansion of this effort for many years to come. The U. N. job has barely been begun.

House OKs Bill To Push Employment Of Handicapped

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Senate Thursday passed a bill setting up a special workmen's compensation fund to encourage employment of physically handicapped persons.

The vote of 33 to 7 moved the bill to the House. The legislation is intended to aid cardiac and epileptic cases particularly.

Sens. Marshall Korshak (D-Chicago) and George Drach (R-Springfield) urged passage of the bill over objections of Sen. Merritt Little (R-Aurora).

Little said passage would violate an agreement between labor management and legislative parties that another workmen's compensation bill was the only one of its type that should be adopted this session.

Korshak replied the bill "would put handicapped people to work without hurting anyone" and "would not stifle any benefits won by labor."

Drach remarked he was obliged to favor the measure "because it seems to be the solution for those people who cannot find work in ordinary circumstances."

The girl had been playing in the yard. Parents discovered her in the water and rushed her to St. Anthony's Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Effingham County Coroner Dr. George Wood conducted an inquest for later today.

In addition to her parents, the girl is survived by three brothers and two sisters.

BOY STATERS WILL VOTE ON CANDIDATES

Candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, state school superintendent, supreme court clerk and judicial offices also were up for election.

Pries Bars, Flees Cumberland Jail

TOLEDO, Ill. (AP)—A prisoner held on a charge of burglary pried two steel bars in the front door of Cumberland County Jail late Thursday and fled.

Authorities identified the escapee as Larry Delage Smith, a 37-year-old Negro and a parolee from Stateville Prison at Joliet.

The 140-pound prisoner removed his shirt and shoes before attempting to squeeze through the narrow jail door opening. The clothing was found in his cell.

A search for Smith centered today in an area near Woodbury in the southwest corner of Cumberland County.

Smith, who gave Chicago as his home address, was awaiting trial on a charge of burglarizing a farm implement store in Neoga.

Public Health Still Endorses Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service, agreeing with the opinion of a panel of medical experts, says "we continue to endorse the manufacture and use" of Salk polio vaccine.

The health service statement, reaffirming its earlier stand, was issued as the House Commerce Committee completed two days of unusual hearings in which researchers expressed opinions which added up to an 8-2 vote of confidence in the vaccine.

There still was no word, however, on how soon additional supplies of the vaccine might be available.

Summing up two days of testimony by the 15 specialists at the House hearing, Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) told newsmen today:

"The differences among these eminent doctors appeared to me more moral and technical than basic. It was significant there was no dissent on substituting new virus strains for preparation of the vaccine."

Rep. Springer (R-Ill.) told reporters he was in complete agreement.

"I thought the testimony demonstrated that all were in substantial agreement on what the Salk vaccine is, and on its capabilities," he said. "The only divergence was by the dissenters who had the single feeling that additional safety was desirable."

Five members of the panel of experts did not vote on whether they thought Salk inoculations should be continued this summer.

There was unanimous agreement, however, that medical research should produce less virulent strains of polio virus for manufacture of the Salk vaccine.

The Mahoney virus—one of the strains which produce the deadly Type 1, or paralytic, polio—should be displaced with less virulent strains for the safety of the patients, they concluded.

Boy Left Overtime Happily Reunited With His Parents

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Little Larry Cull is back with his parents again, none the worse for a "misunderstanding" that kept him from them for an extra six days.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Douglas Cull, who left the year-old tot at a boarding house "for five days" and hadn't called for him 11 days later claimed the boy Thursday at Juvenile Court.

Cull, a hardware salesman, said Larry was placed in the boarding house of Mrs. Ellen Faford June 12 because Cull's mother was ill.

Cull paid for five days' care for Larry at the boarding house and at the end of that time, he said, he sent Mrs. Faford money for another week's board and tried to call her, but couldn't find her number.

Girl Badly Injured In Accident At Swings

Patricia Meline, 14 year old Jacksonville girl, was believed to be slightly improved in condition Friday from serious head injuries she sustained in an accident at the Nichols park playgrounds about 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Ann Meline, 933 Goltra avenue, was unconscious when taken to Our Saviour's hospital, and was later transferred to St. John's hospital at Springfield.

At St. John's hospital Friday it was reported that she apparently was responding to treatment. Her general condition was believed to be slightly better.

Miss Meline was found unconscious on the ground near a swing. She is believed either to have fallen from the swing, or to have been struck by it.

A large bump formed quickly under one eye, indicating that she had sustained a blow either from the swing or as she landed on the ground.

First arrivals bathed her head with water from the lake. She revived for a few seconds, then lapsed into unconsciousness before she reached the hospital.

Her mother accompanied her to Springfield and was at the bedside Friday.

Shoe Firm To Hike Midwest Activity; Shut East Plants

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The International Shoe Co. has announced plans to increase production in the Midwest and shut its three remaining shoe production plants in New Hampshire.

The firm's only remaining operations in New England will be a tannery and its eastern sales division which will continue at Manchester, N. H.

About 1,000 CIO Shoe Workers will be laid off by the shutdown of plants at Claremont, Newport and Nashua, N. H. The firm operates 64 manufacturing plants with a total employment of 36,000 persons.

In the announcement Thursday, the company said an increase in production in the Midwest will be made to meet a predicted 15 percent increase in the sale of men's and boys' shoes this fall.

A new plant will be opened at Cape Girardeau, Mo. Production will be increased at seven other Missouri plants and at Quincy, Ill.

Edgar A. Rand, president of the firm, said the transfer of operations from New England "will complete a 25-year transition of that minor part of our shoemaking that was in the east to the Middle West."

Workers to be laid off will receive extra vacation pay, the company said.

HOME SEWING PLAN IN AURORA SEEN AS WAGE LAW VIOLATION

CHICAGO (AP)—The federal government is seeking to enjoin two Aurora, Ill., companies from violating the minimum wage law under a home sewing plan.

Named defendants in a suit Thursday were Central Sewing Machine Distributors, 120 Fox St., and Bell Sewing Plant, Inc., 56 S. LaSalle St., in Aurora.

The government alleged that housewives received as little as 15 cents an hour under a home sewing plan. The wage and hour law sets 75 cents an hour as the minimum.

Motel Operators To Join Caravan For Long Tour

A Jacksonville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus E. Smith, 330 East Morton avenue, are about to embark on a real adventure of the open road—as part of the Wally Byam Goodwill Caravan through eastern Canada this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are proprietors of the Smith Motel in this city.

The Smiths, who helped to inaugurate the first of these trailer caravan tours in 1951 when 65 trailers visited Central America on a goodwill mission, will join with a large number of other trailer travel enthusiasts assembling at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 28, to begin what promises to be a real "Fifth Avenue on Wheels" tour of the hunting, fishing and sightseeing paradise of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, ending at Bangor, Maine, about August 15.

Led by Wally Byam, president of Airstream Trailers of Los Angeles, the tour hit their high spot earlier this year with a giant, 500-trailer caravan of western Mexico, largest such venture ever undertaken.

Tractor Operator Suffers Injuries In Highway Crash

Howard Carter, 27, of Jacksonville route 2, was hospitalized Friday morning after he was knocked from a tractor he was driving on U. S. Route 67, two miles south of Jacksonville. The tractor is said to have been struck by a transport truck loaded with chickens, which turned over at the side of the highway.

Carter was taken to Passavant Area hospital by Joe Cruzan, a neighbor, and was found to be suffering from an injury to his left ankle, minor lacerations and abrasions on his face and body. X-ray examination of the injured ankle was scheduled.

County officials who went to the scene of the accident said both the transport truck and tractor were traveling north. Carter had turned out of a driveway at his father's home shortly before the accident. Deputy Sheriff Mose Wicks said the transport was driven by Sidney Brock, Locust Grove, Ark., who was accompanied by Felton Spinks of Almond, Ark. Neither man in the truck was injured.

None of the chickens escaped from the overturned truck. One truck wheel was knocked off and rolled for some distance.

The wreck occurred one-quarter mile south of Southern Acres nursery.

First adhesive postage stamps were five- and 10-cent issues of Benjamin Franklin and George Washington, respectively.

LAUGH

LAUGH

The circus brings excitement for young and old alike—the animals, the thrilling acts, the funny clowns. Perhaps we like the clowns best of all with their antics and their grinning faces.

But the jolly face of a clown is not necessarily what it seems to be. A mask of humor might very well conceal a sad heart, and the jester could easily be living in a world of self-doubt.

Many people know this dilemma. To the world they show a countenance of false gaiety, but within there is disquiet. Why? It may be that these people have found no basis for genuine peace and contentment. And no amount of banter or pretense can heal a bruised spirit.

A basic faith is essential to the soul of every individual. To attain this faith turn to the Church, which for countless generations has given new life and hope to millions. Then, with a heart full of love and confidence, know the joy of genuine, heartfelt laughter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—You are not entitled to workmen's compensation benefits if you have a heart attack at a horse racing track, the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court holds.

The court rejected the claim of Morris L. Lesnik, a vice president of a car-loading corporation.

He said he had a heart attack while entertaining a customer at the track. He contended the attack climaxed a period of stress and strain in the employ of the corporation.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

There's a certain kinship between V. M. Molotov, revolutionary Russia's "hammer," and Jawaharlal Nehru.

Molotov, confronted by a mountain of facts, can look through it to see whatever he wishes to see on the other side.

Nehru, confronted by a clear pane of glass, can look through it without seeing anything on the other side which he does not wish to see.

While Molotov was making his speech at the anniversary meeting of the United Nations in San Francisco, Nehru and Bulganin were drawing up a new "peace" communique in Moscow.

Both pronouncements were headed "sweetness and light." Both revived and re-emphasized the major issues of the cold war.

Indeed, observers were somewhat surprised at Molotov. Prior to his speech he had been oozing good will. He had accepted a ten-gallon American hat. He attended a dinner and proposed a toast to his Allied hosts.

But then he got up on the rostrum where everybody has been talking nothing but peace this week and went through his well-worn rote.

The gist of it was that the Allies started the cold war and intended to turn it into a hot war. He repeated the various formulas by which Russia has said the world could have peace, formulas which everyone recognizes would mean a peace consolidating Russia's hold on the fruits of her conquests and leaving the road open for more.

Nehru picked a number of cold war issues on which to side with Russia. In particular, he agreed with Bulganin on three which are particularly touchy for the United States. They are Russia's proposed ban on nuclear weapons, the surrender of Formosa to the Chinese Reds, and a seat in the U. N. for the Peiping regime.

RESIGNS — Italy's Premier Mario Scelba, above, lost the support of his Christian Democratic Party and resigned his post. The Party charged that the anti-Communist Scelba coalition government had "done nothing."

from the United States and working for more, got, in return for his docility on other matters, a promise of aid from Russia.

Any country which ever counted on "aid" from Russia can tell him how that works, or doesn't work.

NEW FERTILIZER PLANT

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — A new plant is going up here to produce 300 tons of ammonia a day for fertilizer. It will use hydrogen, a by-product of gasoline production, and nitrogen distilled from liquid air.

Farmers use special equipment to inject ammonia into the soil to replace nitrogen used by plants. The plants cannot use nitrogen until it is combined with hydrogen, as in ammonia, or some other element. Agronomists say the growing of 60 bushels of corn on an acre will remove 95 pounds of nitrogen from the soil.

YEARS-AHEAD LOOKS . . . you see it in every Thunderbird-inspired line. For, this '55 Ford is truly the styling "trend-setter." Perhaps you've noticed, too, you see more and more Fords in front of homes where formerly only costlier cars were parked.

NEED an ELEPHANT in the HOUSE?

CAN YOU find a spot in your yard for a kangaroo? If so, call Fred Zeehandelaar at 39 Broadway in New York. Fred is largest importer of wild life in America. He'll have anything you want flown to your home by air freight. Or, if you want to send an alligator or monkey to a friend, Fred will do that too. How about prices? Glad you asked that question, friend. We have here a chubby elephant that goes for $5,000 plus freight. How about a brace of lovely Australian red kangaroos? They are going for above $900. Or maybe you prefer a pair of Indian finches? Fork over $6.50. Fred, who runs a chemical and fertilizer company, got into the animal importing business when a client in Zanzibar asked for monkeys. At first Fred laughed. Now he's in business.

THE newspaper reporter got to his feet cautiously, looking warily for some reaction from Chief Will Gentry to prevent Shayne from walking out. Instead, to his surprise, he saw a faint smile on Gentry's thick lips, a twinkle in his eyes as Shayne stormed out the door.

He stopped Rourke from following, getting to his feet as he did so. "Wait, Tim."

His hand went inside his coat to withdraw the 38 with which he had threatened Shayne earlier. He held it out butt-first to the reporter.

"Give this to Mike. He may need it."

Timothy Rourke reached Shayne's parked car just as the rearhead was slamming it back savagely against the bumper of a car parked too close to allow him to swing away from the curb.

Rourke jerked the door open and slid in beside him.

Shayne swung the wheel hard, went forward with his foot hard on the accelerator so the right end of his front bumper forced aside the rear bumper of the car ahead. The heavy sedan leaped forward in the street.

"He's got Lucy and he hasn't got the money," said Shayne.

"Sure," agreed Rourke just as flatly. "He'll torture her to learn what you and she did with the money. But he won't kill her, Mike. Not as long as he thinks there's any chance in the world you've got the dough, he'll keep Lucy alive to put pressure on you. One thing that keeps bothering me... where is Hugh Al-lerdice all this time?"

"Yeah. No one has even seen him tonight that we know of. Look, Tim. Did you talk to the taxi driver who picked Bristow up after he was shot?"

"I don't know that anyone on the paper talked to him."

"Was his name given out?"

"Not for publication. Gentry asked us to keep him incognito to avoid any possible reprisals and because he might be an important witness later."

"But you know who he is?"

"Sure. Name is Joe Agnew, I remember. Lives in the Southwest section, I think."

Shayne was breathing hard and the lines in his face were deep. He pulled the car toward an all-night drugstore. "Go in and call Agnew," he ordered brusquely. "You've got to have an interview tonight to hit the front pages tomorrow. Pour it out big that he's a hero and your editor demands a personal interview. I want to hear him tell exactly what happened in front of that house on 18th when he picked Bristow up."

Rourke said cheerfully, "Can do," and opened the door to get out. He paused on the sidewalk, reached down to pull the 38 from under his belt. He laid it on the seat beside Shayne, explaining, "Chief Gentry's parting gift to you. He figured you weren't carrying one tonight, and that it might come in handy if you do catch up with Switzer."

SHAYNE pulled up in front and got out to follow Rourke up a walk toward the front door. It was a white stucco bungalow with neatly trimmed lawn and a gravel driveway on the side leading to a detached garage in the rear. The front door opened as they neared it, and a wiry young man was silhouetted in the light. Rourke pumped his hand and said, "I'm Rourke. Mighty good of you to let us drop in so late. This is my friend, Michael Shayne. He's interested, too, so I asked him."

"Mike Shayne!" Joe Agnew's

Probers Hunt For Papers Capmaker Refused To Give

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee today sent staff sleuths on a hunt for documents wealthy capmaker Sol Schlesinger refused to surrender.

It "might tend to incriminate" him, Schlesinger testified Thursday during the subcommittee's hearings on alleged graft in the procurement of armed forces uniforms.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) promptly wrote to the Pentagon that Schlesinger should be denied any more government contracts and b deprived of one he now holds to produce 50,000 blue sailor caps, for having invoked the Fifth Amendment.

The subcommittee Thursday explored an unexplained rumor that Schlesinger paid a $100,000 bribe to an Army colonel and two civilian aides in 1950 to swing to his Ideal Uniform Cap Co., of Freeport, N.Y., a contract for a half million Air Force caps.

This line of questioning drew a barrage of indignant denials.

"Preposterous!" snapped Schlesinger when Robert F. Kennedy, the subcommittee counsel, asked him about it. Schlesinger swore he "absolutely" never has bribed any government servant for any purpose.

Col. Louis H. Shirley, the purchasing agent who approved the 1950 contract and whose name Kennedy had linked to the alleged bribe, fired an angry reply that the story was "all based on myth."

A third witness, 69-year-old David Spatt, whom Kennedy also had named, boomed a vigorous denial. "I never took a dime off no body!" said Spatt, a little man who said he had an unusual ailment: "I was born with an upside down stomach." Spatt was a civilian aide to Shirley in the contract negotiations.

Yanks Nip Indians 2-1 On Noren's 10th Inning Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Irv Noren belted a one-out home run into the right field stands to break up a tie ball game in the 10th inning Friday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 2-1. It was only the fifth hit given up by Mike Garcia, who had the Yankees popping up most of the night. But the big righthander was rapped for his ninth defeat in 11 decisions as the Indians time and again blew chances to wrap the game up in regulation time.

Yogi Berra swatted the only other solid blow off Garcia—a two-out homer into the right-center field stands that tied the score at 1-all in the seventh.

The Indians scored their run in the first inning, an unearned marker that Al Smith carried across as the Yankees committed two errors.

Cleveland, which dropped five games behind the Yanks as the league leaders retained their two-game edge on second place Chicago, got hits in each of the first seven innings off rookie Johnny Kucks—but left 14 runners stranded in the span.

The Yanks also chipped in two more errors.

Kucks, who walked six while allowing nine of the Tribe's 10 hits, gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Jim Konstanty came on in relief to gain his fifth victory.

It was only the third Yankee victory in nine meetings with the Indians this season and 47,077 fans—largest of the New York season—sat in on the game, which was delayed 37 minutes by rain.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Kansas City pushed over two runs in the fifth inning on Enos Slaughter's infield tap and Elmer Valo's triple, to thump the hapless Baltimore Orioles 2-0 Friday night.

Arnold Portocarrero, only recently returned from the disabled list, earned his second victory against three losses, limiting the Orioles to two hits before being relieved by Tom Gorman in the sixth.

Starter Saul Rogovin who allowed the two runs, was charged with the loss, his seventh defeat against a single win. Ray Moore relieved him in the sixth and held the A's hitless the rest of the way.

It was the Orioles' 14th shutout of the season and their fifth straight loss.

Gomez, Giants Edge Cards 1-0 On Homer By Whitey Lockman

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Whitey Lockman's fourth-inning home run Friday night gave the New York Giants a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gomez, author of the New York staff's only two shutouts this season, did not walk a batter and struck out eight in the brilliant duel in which he yielded six hits and Poholsky just three. The Giant hurler now has a 4-3 record.

The St. Louis righthander, suffering his third defeat against one victory, worked eight innings in which he walked one and fanned six. Lockman's drive onto the right-field roof came on a "2-2" change-up in the fourth.

Al Dark's game-opening single and Don Mueller's safety immediately after Lockman's homer were the three New York hits.

For the Cardinals, Stan Musial doubled with one out in the first inning. Rip Repulski singled with two away in the second. Poholsky doubled with one down in the third. Bill Virdon hit a two-base blow with one out in the seventh and Musial and Virdon singled successively with two away in the ninth.

Billy Maxwell Takes Lead In Western Golf
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., came in with 34-33-67 Friday to take the lead in the second round of the Western Open Golf Championship.

Maxwell, a former National Amateur titleholder who scored 70 137, had a 36-hole total of 137. That was one stroke better than the scores of Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, and Mike Souchak, Durham, N. C.

Rosburg appeared to have clinched the lead with a sensational five under par on the first nine, but he faltered to a 38, one over par, on the way in.

Souchak checked in with 33-36-69, duplicating his first-round total. Ralph Blomquist, Glendale, Calif., California Open champion, had 35-36-71 for a 36-hole total of 140. He had 69 Thursday.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., bid for the lead by slapping out a three-under-par 69, but that left him at 142, five strokes behind Maxwell.

White Sox Nip Red Sox 3-2 On Fox's Hit

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago survived a zany ninth inning to cool off the Boston Red Sox 3-2 Friday night on Nellie Fox's decisive single in the seventh.

The Sox, battling to the wire in an effort to preserve a five-game win streak, got two men on with none out in the ninth. Sammy White singled to left and Faye Throneberry popped a bunt over pitcher Sandy Consuegra's head which fell safely.

But Chico Carrasquel, Chisox shortstop, pulled the hidden ball play to nip White off second after Grady Hatton fled to left.

Jim Piersall got a single as Consuegra slipped on the wet turf trying to field the ball to keep the home hopes alive. Gene Stephens was announced to pinchhit for reliever Tommy Hurd but when Chicago Manager Marty Marion called on Lefty Morrie Martin, Boston pilot Mike Higgins countered with Ted Lepcio. Tension built to a high pitch for the 28,628 spectators as the count went to 3-2 before Lepcio fanned.

Hurd's relief work in the seventh was outstanding but too late. Fox single to left followed a walk, sacrifice and single that put runners on first and third.

Hurd, replacing loser Mel Parnell, gave a single to Minnie Minoso that loaded the bases but got George Kell to fly to short right and Jim Rivera to pop to second.

Walt Dropp homered for the winners and Grady Hatton for the losers.

Home Runs By Cooper, Banks Back Up 8-Hit Pitching By Minner

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs exploded 14 hits against three Pittsburgh pitchers to gain a 10-3 win over the Pirates Friday on Paul Minner's eight-hit pitching.

Shortstop Ernie Banks cashed three hits including his sixteenth homer as the Cubs scored 10 runs for the first time since May 11 when they turned the trick against Brooklyn.

Walker Cooper smashed his third homer, and Gene Baker inserted a triple as the Chicagoans ended a three-game losing streak.

Starter Bob Friend drew the loss. After he was sidelined during Chicago's five-run third, Bob Furkey and Elroy Face took turns mopping up.

The Cubs tossed four singles, two of them safe bunts, into the third-inning hopper along with Baker's triple and Banks' homer to account for the five runs.

Cooper's homer was off Furkey in the fourth, and Hank Sauer's single scored rookie Jim King with Chicago's seventh run in the fifth.

Face was the victim of Chicago's three-run spurt in the seventh when Banks singled for two runs, and Randy Jackson's safety powered the third run to lift the Cubs back into second place pending the outcome of the Brooklyn-Milwaukee game at Milwaukee Friday night.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (P)—Most treasury bonds drifted downward Friday while the corporate bond market remained steady.

Over the counter trading was slow.

Corporate bonds fluctuated narrowly as "Big Board" volume declined to $3,540,000 par value from $3,800,000 Thursday. Convertible oil company obligations were in demand. But there was no trend in the railroad, industrial or utility sections.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (P)—Oils were strong Friday in the stock market, but that was not enough to save the list from a moderate decline.

The small step backward came from record high levels achieved Thursday. At the close, gains went to around $4 while losses extended to around $3.

Aircrafts at one time were doing very well, but they faltered in the final hour and managed to hold only a portion of their best.

Railroads were down along with steels, rubbers, distillers, radio-televisions, building materials, chemicals and airlines. The motors and utilities managed to hold steady.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 30 cents at $172.50. It was up 30 cents Thursday at a new record high. The industrial component, thanks to the oils, gained 10 cents at a new high of $237.20 while rails lost $1.10 and utilities closed unchanged.

Volume came to only 2,410,000 shares as against 2,900,000 Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange was quite mixed, but prices were lower on balance. Trading amounted to 990,000 shares as compared with 1,050,000 shares traded Thursday.

Wheat Prices Rise Briskly On Board

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED

CHICAGO (P)—Wheat prices advanced briskly on the Board of Trade Friday after a hesitant start. Gains of almost two cents were posted until moderate profit taking toward the close shaved nearby contracts.

Some expansion in corn deliveries to the local market and lack of appreciable exports eased corn. Soybeans, on the other hand, showed moderate strength on the basis of more export business.

Oats were mixed but rye gained a little with wheat and lard regained some earlier losses with the steadying of the hog market.

At the finish wheat was 1/4-1/2 cents higher, corn 1/4-1/2 lower, oats 3/4 lower to 1/4 higher and rye was 1/4 to 1 cent up. Soybeans brought 1/4 to 1 cent more while lard was up 5 to 8 cents a hundred pounds.

The wheat grower referendum Saturday appeared to have come in for some reconsideration by traders. Some reported farm sentiment seemed to be turning more favorable toward the proposal for next year's wheat quotas and support prices.

They felt that if the referendum were to win the market was in an oversold position and purchases could be profitable. Some of the buying also came from mills, brokers reported, following more rainfall which delayed winter wheat harvesting in the Southwest.

Sentiment in soybeans was improved by export sales of 360,000 bushels to Japan and of six million pounds of refined soybean oil in drums to Yugoslavia. Gains in meal futures also helped beans.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (P)—A steady to 25 cents higher trade developed for live hogs Friday as a small cutback in the salable supply managed to stem the week's steep slide.

Hardly more than nominal price ranges were posted for cattle and sheep in view of the usual light receipts for the closing day of the week.

Most butcher weight hogs sold from $18.50 to $21.25. One lot reached $21.50. Sows took $13.50 to $18.00 with a few worth $18.50. Of the 4,500 hogs on sale—down 10 per cent from expectations—shippers bought 1,000. It was the smallest run of hogs since early September.

The only trend in cattle appeared on cows which were weak to 25 cents lower. Other classes were mainly steady. A few good and choice steers and yearlings took $18.00 to $20.00.

A cleanup trade in sheep gave a weak to 50 cents lower market on those that sold. Chief of the limited arrivals were a few lots of good and choice native spring lambs at $21.50 to $22.00.

Observance Of UN Charter Would End Cold War: Dulles

his support of the U. N. and appealed for disarmament so effective that no nation would have sufficient arms to wage a successful war.

Truman opened the 1945 founding conference by telephone from Washington soon after becoming President. He came here for the closing ceremonies on June 26, 1945. This conference will adjourn Sunday afternoon after, it is expected, accepting a San Francisco declaration on peace.

The former President, a veteran of the Potsdam Conference of 1945, welcomed the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and the other big power chieftains. He appeared also to approve the cautious course being taken by President Eisenhower.

"It may not be possible to make sudden or vast strides in these conferences," he said, "but agreement even in some things will be a gain. Agreement even in little things may be a foundation on which greater things can be built."

Dulles looked ahead with considerable hope to the Big Four chiefs of government meeting in Geneva next month. President Eisenhower said he would take to Geneva with him the spirit of the U. N. charter and urged other chiefs to do the same.

Dulles said the United States hopes to find this spirit of adherence to the charter shared at Geneva.

"If so," he continued, "we can find there new procedures, or at least develop a new impetus which will help to solve some of these vast and stubborn problems that still confront us."

"We shall not, at Geneva, assume to act as a world directorate with the right to determine the destinies of others. Good solutions do not come from such a mood. We shall seek to find procedures such that all nations directly concerned can fully assert whatever rights and views they have."

Molotov, who has been trying to radiate sweetness among the U. N. delegates, listed in his speech such matters as the end of the Korean War and the Indochina fighting, the Austrian treaty and a general easing of tension as achievements due in a large measure to Moscow's "peace" policy.

Dulles referred to these claims by one and contended, with some words of sarcasm, that it is strange to hear this from those who struggled so long to prevent these very actions.

"Some say that what has happened marks the beginning of an era," Dulles said, "I believe that can be. Certainly the United States, I pledge you, will do all that lies within its power to make it so. But we do not forget, we dare not forget, that some of those who now hail the recent developments are precisely those who sought for years to stop them."

The secretary, who has been dealing with the Communists from a position of strength, warned it would be prudent to continue this policy.

"Steadfastness to principle and sacrifice for principle are the proven price of the good that we have won," Dulles said. "It would be reckless to expect further good at any lesser price. To achieve peace with justice, peace with sovereignty for nations great and small, peace with respect for human beings without regard to class, will require sustaining the effort, the sacrifice, the solidarity which has brought us where we are today."

Dulles said much more remains to be done.

REPORT 'NUDE WOMAN' WANDERING IN COLORADO WILDS

MONTROSE, Colo. (P)—Sheriffs in two Colorado counties said Friday they have investigated reports a nude woman was reported wandering in the wilds near the Black Canyon on the Gunnison River. They said, however, no trace of the woman has been found.

Sheriff Arthur Sutton of Montrose County said the first report to him was made by Robert Flowers. He and his wife were picnicking in the canyon, 20 miles east of Montrose Sunday, Flowers said, when he saw what he took to be the unclad figure of a woman lurking in the brush. She fled as he approached.

Flowers said he left some food at the spot and later found it had been eaten.

Toll Road Commission Avoids Death By One Vote In State House

By CHARLES WHALEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Toll Road Commission, under fire for months in the Illinois House, barely weathered a bill Friday that would have ended its existence.

By a one-vote deficit, the bill seeking repeal of the 1953 Toll Road Act and turning over commission records to the State Highway Division, met defeat.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Jack Bairstow of Waukegan and the three other Democratic members of the nine-man House committee which investigated the Toll Road Commission.

Bairstow, a strong critic of the commission's operations and its chairman, Evan Howell, tried twice during the day to pass the bill but gave up the second time when it received 76 of the 77 votes required for approval. Sixty-five votes were cast against it.

All but five Republican lawmakers opposed it after Rep. Louis E. Beckman (R-Kankakee) accused the Democrats of attempting to "torpedo the entire Toll Road Act." Beckman was a member of the investigating group.

Bairstow said he sought passage of the bill because recommendations of the investigating committee were not carried out in bills by the Republican majority on the committee.

One of the major recommendations was creation of a joint legislative commission with power to confirm or disapprove the governor's appointees to the turnpike agency when the Senate was not in session, and to advise the governor on turnpike routes.

Rep. John Lewis of Marshall, GOP floor leader, said Bairstow's bill "let the cat out of the bag" by showing that critics of the Toll Road Commission actually were against any toll roads.

But Rep. Arthur Sprague (R-LaGrange), a leading force behind the investigation, declared that public confidence in the present commission has been "sadly impaired" and that a fresh start was needed.

A few hours after defeat of the repealer, the House passed and referred to the Senate nine bills and killed 13 others pertaining to toll roads.

One of the approved bills would set up the joint legislative commission which Bairstow wanted. The bill was sponsored by Sprague and Rep. David Hunter (R-Rockford).

Other toll road bills passed called for:

The commission to repay from bond proceeds the half million dollars it received from the Legislature for operations.

Prohibiting any officer, employee or agent of the commission from having any interest in sale of toll road bonds or property.

Requiring that two commissioners sign expense accounts.

Legalizing the commission's policy of lumping proposed toll roads under one bond issue.

A series of other measures to curb the commission's powers either died without a fight or were defeated.

Love Is Stronger Than Cut On Brow: Wedding Saturday

HOLLYWOOD (P)—The pretty young daughter of Gov. Goodwin Knight has a "prize fight" cut over one eye — inflicted by the man she's to wed Saturday night at the Executive Mansion in Sacramento.

But tall, blonde 21-year-old Carolyn Knight is bothered not a whit.

She says it was her own fault for zipping when she should have zipped while she and her fiancé, Charles Weedman Jr., 27-year-old University of Southern California law student, were watching Archie Moore defeat Bobo Olson on a televised fight for the light heavyweight championship last Wednesday night.

"Chuck and I were watching the fight with some friends," said Miss Knight. "He was sparring around, demonstrating his version of the knockout punch. I guess I ducked the wrong way. His finger-nail flicked me over the eyebrow."

She said she guesses the photographers "can touch up the pictures Saturday night so the microchrome won't show."

ADVERTISING CARDS IN CHURCH CORNERSTONE

WASHINGTON (P)—A cornerstone placed in the Georgetown Presbyterian Church when an addition was built in 1881 included more than the customary documents. Two advertising cards apparently slipped in without authority, were found when the cornerstone box was opened. One said "John Little, apothecary" and the other "F. L. Moore, seeds, guano and garden implements."

A parsec is a unit of astronomical measurement equal to approximately 19 trillion miles.

State Senate OK's Absentee Voting By Ill, Disabled

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—The Illinois Senate Friday approved legislation permitting absentee voting by ill or disabled persons.

Absentee voting now is permitted only when a person is away from home on business on election day. The bill requires House concurrence in a Senate amendment before going to Gov. Stratton for his signature.

The Senate defeated a bill to repeal the 10-cent admission fee at seven state parks — Pere Marquette, White Pines, Illinois Beach, Matthiessen, Mississippi Palisades, Grand Marais and Starved Rock.

The Senate passed a House bill permitting county roads to levy a property tax of five cents on each $100 of assessed valuation to raise funds for matching federal grants for secondary roads.

Another House measure winning Senate approval established a commission to study ways of improving economic conditions in the state, particularly in Southern Illinois.

During its Friday session, the Senate passed a total of 53 bills and defeated 3. Both the Senate and House will hold perfunctory meetings Saturday, returning for a full session Monday.

Authorizes Switch Of Gas Pipe Line To Oil Transport

WASHINGTON (P)—The Power Commission Friday authorized Eastern Transmission Corp., Shreveport, La., to convert part of its "Little Inch" natural gas pipeline system for transportation to petroleum products and build replacements for the gas service.

Texas Eastern will retire about 1,168 miles of pipeline and re-compressor stations between Baytown, Tex., and Moundsville, W. Va., from gas service and convert them for petroleum products. It will also retire part of the compressor capacity at 16 other stations.

The new facilities to handle natural gas will include about 481.5 miles of pipeline, 10 new compressor stations and additional capacity in existing stations. The commission said these facilities together with existing facilities will adequately replace the service now given by the little inch system.

The order directs Texas Eastern to begin construction of the new facilities within 60 days and to complete the project within 18 months.

The commission said Texas Eastern introduced evidence which indicated the proposed rearrangement would result in a reduction in the cost of service.

Drunken Gunman Gets $2,400 In Chicago Holdup

CHICAGO (P)—A hesitant, intoxicated gunman held up a loan corporation office on the North-west Side Friday and escaped with $2,400 in cash.

The man had been in the office earlier, said Fred Kregg, 51, office manager, but left after behaving in a furtive manner. Police said Kregg described the robbery this way:

Guessing he might be a holdup man, Kregg said he called the company office to tell his superiors of his suspicions.

After closing the office, Kregg and Miss Catherine Gertner, 21, were walking along the hall in the building when the man approached them, smelling of alcohol and weaving, and bumped into Miss Gertner.

"What's the matter with you?" Kregg asked.

"Do you want to be a hero?" the man replied, drawing a revolver. He herded Kregg and Miss Gertner back into the office and forced her to lie on the floor.

Kregg said the man acted nervous as he ordered him to open the safe.

"If you don't get that safe open, I'll kill both of you. Stop fooling around, I've been on dope for 15 years," he said.

Kregg got the outer safe door open but was too nervous to open the inner door. Miss Gertner then opened the inner door and the man grabbed five canvas sacks containing $2,400 and ran out the door.

ANNOUNCE LOW BID FOR BRIDGE APPROACH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—The State Highway Division announced Friday an apparent low bid of $2,172,650 was submitted for paving the Illinois approach to a bridge over the Wabash River near Mount Vernon, Ind.

A joint bid of that amount was submitted by S. J. Groves and Sons and J. C. O'Connor and Sons, both of Springfield. The Illinois part of the project involves 6.32 miles of concrete pavement west of New Haven to the river.

Attack On Navy Plane Was 13th Since 1950

WASHINGTON (P)—Since 1950 there have been at least a dozen incidents involving attacks on American aircraft outside war zones such as occurred Wednesday in the Bering Strait area.

The first of the incidents, like the latest, was an attack on a Navy plane. On April 8, 1950, Soviet fighters shot down a Navy patrol plane over international waters of the Baltic Sea.

Other incidents since then have included:

Nov. 6, 1951—Navy patrol plane disappeared over international waters off Siberia after being fired on.

Oct. 7, 1952—B29 disappeared on routine flight near Kuriles. The Communists said later that a B29 had fired upon them first.

Jan. 18, 1953—Navy Neptune made forced landing in the Formosa Strait off Swatow, China, after being fired upon by Communist shore batteries.

March 10, 1953—F84 jet fighter was shot down over the United States zone of Germany.

March 10, 1953—A B50 shot down in international waters off the Siberian coast.

March 15, 1953 — A shooting match between Red MIG15 fighters and an RB50 (reconnaissance bomber) at a point 100 miles at sea off the Kamchatka peninsula. The RB50 reached Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska, undamaged.

July 29, 1953—B50 shot down over the Sea of Japan.

Sept. 4, 1954 — Navy Neptune plane shot down 40 miles off the Siberian coast.

Nov. 7, 1954 — B29 shot down while flying over northern Hokkaido, Japan.

Feb. 5, 1955 — Two MIG15s, which attacked an RB45 over international waters off Japan were shot down by American planes.

May 10, 1955 — Two MIG15s shot down after a force of 12 to 16 Red jet fighters jumped a formation of F86s in the Korean area.

Would Give Papers 'Even Break' In Radio Ownership

WASHINGTON (P)—Legislation to forbid discrimination against newspaper owners applying for radio and television station licenses was introduced Friday.

Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz) offered an amendment to the 1934 communications law which would require an even break for newspaper owners competing for broadcasting stations, if issuance of licenses would not create a news dissemination monopoly.

The amendment would prohibit the denial of applications for construction permits or station licenses on grounds applicants own or have interest in newspapers in the areas served by the stations, unless monopolies would be created.

However, the Federal Communications Commission could consider a newspaper connection to be an advantage or disadvantage in cases involving several competing applications.

The amendment would ban consideration of a newspaper's editorial policy in FCC cases.

FCC policy now leans toward spreading the ownership of communications media, which works out to a preference for non-newspaper applicants if other factors are equal.

Girls State Political Parties Pick Slates; State Election Today

Rival political parties — Nationalist and Federalist — Friday took the next-to-last step in the organization of Illini Girls State, 1955. Candidates for state and county officers were nominated in party primary elections in the morning, and a day of spirited campaigning for today's statewide contest ensued.

The Nationalist party Thursday gained, at least temporarily, the upper hand in the government of the imaginary "49th state" as it captured both houses of the General Assembly by narrow margins in the first statewide election.

PERFECT 'BRAIN' TO OPERATE 'BRAIN'

NEW YORK (AP)—Remington Rand, Inc., claims to have perfected a computer's computer—a device that will make it possible for almost anyone with a brain to operate the room-size electronic brain made by the company.

The device is an electronic dictionary, which, fed certain information, makes the computer instruct itself. With it, a problem can be prepared for the big computer in a matter of minutes instead of months.

Additionally, the device will widen the horizon for uses of the giant computers. It will be easier to find people to operate them.

Earl Rabjohns Will Be Concert Soloist

Earl Rabjohns, well known local musician, will be the featured soloist in the first of the 1955 Starlight Band Concerts, to be presented on the Nichols Park bandstand Sunday evening, June 26, at 8 o'clock.

Rabjohns, whose trumpet playing has made him popular with musicians and public alike for many years, is a long-time resident of Jacksonville, having received his education here in the public schools. Although he chose to make music a hobby and avocation rather than a profession, Rabjohns' deep interest in music has not only made him one of the community's best-known trumpet players but has elevated him to the office of president of the Jacksonville Musicians' Union Local No. 128, an office he has held for the past eight years. Mr. and Mrs. Rabjohns and their two children live at 605 Caldwell.

On Sunday evening's concert program Rabjohns will present his own solo interpretation of "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," the popular number introduced on record by "Pee" Prado and his orchestra.

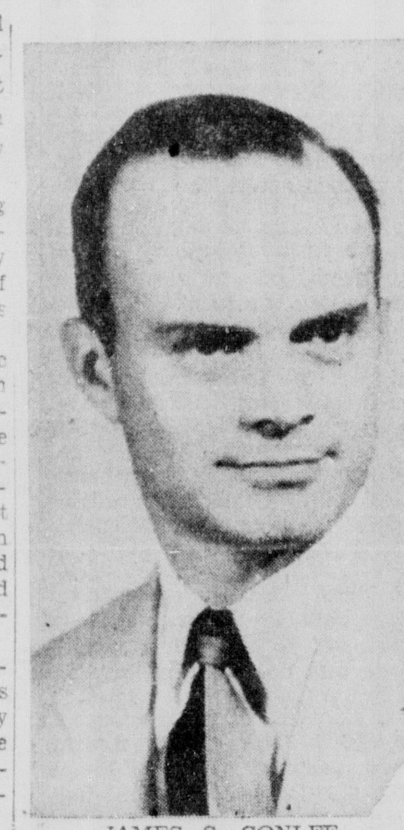

The Starlight Concert Band is composed of union musicians of this community, augmented by high school and college students. This year's director is James S. Conlee, who is entering his sixth year as director of bands in the Waverly schools. The Starlight Concert Band has been directed in past seasons by Albert McCarty (now of Panama City, Florida), James Welch (Jacksonville High School Band Director) and James Brewster (Chapin-Arenzville High School Director).

The Starlight Concerts have always attracted large crowds, with some people sitting on the lawn around the bandstand while others prefer listening in their cars. There is no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited to attend. All numbers are announced on a public address system.

This concert series is made possible by the joint sponsorship of the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Federation of Musicians, the local Musicians' Union, and the Jacksonville Park Board. The Music Performance Trust Fund receives royalties from the sale of phonograph records and allocates money to member locals of the American Federation of Musicians with the stipulation that it be used to present live musical entertainment to the public without charge.

For several years the local Musicians' Union (Earl Rabjohns, president, and Adam Ehrhott, secretary) has used its portion of the fund to present the Starlight Concerts, with the Jacksonville Park Board giving its full cooperation and assistance. In addition to the trumpet solo by Earl Rabjohns, the concert program will include a variety of music, ranging from marches and light classical selections to popular and novelty numbers. The program is as follows:

Solemnity of Liberty, Concert March, Olivadotti; Royal Gorge Overture, Little; Marianna, Singer; La Mascara, Pasa Doble, Walters; Cher-

Ask 8,000 Alumnae To Aid College Fund

Mrs. Sherwood Eddy and Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, co-chairmen of the National Alumnae Campaign for the MacMurray College Development Program, reported the opening today of the national campaign for funds by the Alumnae Division of the development program of MacMurray College. The national appeal for funds for the College will reach over 8,000 alumnae by July 1.

Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. Crawford said that by August 1 the Alumnae Bulletin, edited by Mrs. Raymond Davidson, Alumnae Secretary, will carry a full report of the success of the campaign.

In launching this national appeal, Mrs. Crawford, in the absence of Mrs. Eddy who is now in New York City, commented: MacMurray College is not alone in its financial needs; for nearly half of the colleges in the United States are now in the red. A dramatic statement of the plight of the privately endowed college has been excellently presented in a recent article in Newsweek magazine, the issue of June 20. This article, appearing in the Education section, said, in part:

"Nearly half the colleges, at this happy commencement time are in the red. Despite herculean efforts to meet continuously rising costs by tuition increases, total operating deficits exceed $30 million a year. . . . In the next decade . . . the colleges thought they would need at least $3 billion in increased endowment funds, and an additional $2.5 billion just to house the children of the post war generation. . . . Aside from corporate giving, colleges have only three other possible sources of additional cash. These are the government, the big foundations, and alumnae. . . . Most educators recoil in horror from the idea of Federal subsidy. The foundations cannot offer much hope; for their resources are not large enough to permit unrestricted gifts. Rockefeller's General Education Board has in fact almost run out of money, after fifty years of giving."

Mrs. Crawford Mrs. Eddy said that their group is appealing to 8,000 alumnae from coast to coast as the third step in the Development Fund program, before the College approaches corporations and foundations.

The first step in the fund raising program of the College was the Jacksonville campaign, which is now in its final phase under the chairmanship of Mr. A. W. Applebee. Eighty-five per cent of this goal has now been reached. The second step was the appeal to area alumnae clubs from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco, Calif., where the response was enthusiastic and heart-warming, with $4600 being contributed in 120 gifts in early scattered reports. Alumnae everywhere will now be contacted.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gordon, former residents of Jacksonville who have lived in Quincy for the past year, remain in serious condition at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Hannibal, Mo., according to information received Friday from members of the family.

The Gordons were injured last Saturday in a head-on crash in Hannibal involving a resident of that city who has been charged with driving while intoxicated.

On Sunday morning he returned to Hannibal to see his wife and more extensive examination revealed a bad fracture of his knee. The injured limb was encased in a cast from his toes to hip. Members of the family have been with the injured couple continuously.

Sound Steering Is Most Important Of Safety Factors

A sound steering system is the most important safety element in a Soap Box Derby racing car. Installing the steering system is a major step in the car's construction.

The national rules committee is very specific in a new provision written into the 1955 steering rule. The regulation states that the steering wheel of the car must operate to swing the front axle (on a kingpin) only by means of cables attached directly to the front axle assembly. ANY type of tiller bar steering is prohibited. Stick with the rules closely in building the steering system.

The steering wheel must be firmly attached to the steering shaft. The car must be built so that there is a clearance of at least two inches between the rim of the steering wheel and any part of the car or the driver's body. This clearance is necessary, regardless of the position of the steering wheel, while the boy is in driving position and when he applies the brake.

Steering shaft must be horizontal, or nearly so, to allow plenty of leg room. Strong and securely fastened metal cables are required.

A cable drum, if one is used in the assembly, must be round and not more than 1 1/2 inches or less than 1-inch in diameter. Cable must be firmly attached to, or threaded through, the steering shaft or drum to prevent slipping. Study the rule book illustrations on steering thoroughly for recommended procedure.

A commercially built steering assembly is available and may be used. Its cost must be included in the $10 cost limit for the car.
